Persons are making Martin Robert Seidel 04/03/1992 paralyzed by directed energy from a department of defense satellite , persons are making him watch saw (the movie) while torturing and trying to rape him . Persons are trying to paralyze his nervous system and bowels and enteric nervous system and persons are not letting him be able to speak or to call 911 - please help - real

Persons are using the software to stimulate his fronts eye field to keep his eyes open even though he is semi unconscious and his limbs are being manipulated

Persons are using synthetic neuron and brain region firing capabilities on his brain - persons and their command lied directly to the military police

You   2023/10/1 12:09 AM
Persons force his hands to move and his eyes to open - the system has the correct regions of the brain mapped to aim (even on the move) for the region of the eyes to manipulate the eyes (while paralyzing the subjects ability to move them on their own)- it also has the part of the brain mapped for arm and hand movments all combinations of which and the ability to copy the movements of others are stored in the software package - persons use this ability to force Martin to masterbate while keeping him unconscious and then forcing him to be raped by male operators of the system while they create synthetic internal monologue and force his eyes open . Martin needs medical attention

Ncis does not realize how sophisticated the system is and how it can manipulate the subjects limbs , arms , eyes and head at once - persons are using DoD satellite and systems and DoD funded source code to commit a gang rape of a person using their own body

Please gain access to special access program refords

The system has stored the correct flux locations and voltages and current (needed to create) needed to contract each muscle or groups of muscles - such that the system can send the correct combination of voltages and current down the corticospinal tract to make the muscles of the hand close or open - and the muscles of the biceps , triceps , and for arms engage at various force to perform any action

(Ncis needs the technical documents)

Persons can send the correct voltages and current down the corticospinal tract in nanosecond to milisecond spacing to engage and cause any muscle or group of muscle to contract from 0 amount of force to full contracture - meaning the persons can set the amount of force the muscles use to contract and engage specific groups of muscles - or the muscles required to do any action

The software calculates the correct flux amount on the correct regions of the motor cortex to send the correct voltages and current sequences down the corticospinal tract

You   2023/10/1 12:19 AM

The software calculates the correct flux amount on the correct regions of the motor cortex to send the correct voltages and current sequences down the corticospinal tract to route to the correct muscles or muscle to cause it to contract with the correct amount of force .

The system can aim induction beams at every single region of the brain required for both arms or both legs or nearly every muscle at once (so that the correct voltage and current combinations go down the spinal column) so that the correct routine voltage and current travel down the efferent neurons (to the muscles) to engage and cause the correct amount of motor neuron recruitment to contract the muscle (depending on how much current and voltage - which is specific for each muscle and group) so that the correct amount of motor neuron recruitment happens for each muscle that was targeted in the motor cortex .
The system can aim induction beams (through the skull) at the correct regions of the brain required

You   2023/10/1 12:25 AM

For each muscle in the motor cortex - with the software storing and able to recreate from the operator or pre stored equations and tables the necessary pulse locations , pulse powers , beam widths , and pulse time of beams (tens to hundreds) (- see other tips) - needed to route the correct voltage and current down the corticospinal tract to the correct muscle or/and combination of muscles - required to do an action or serious of movments at the force required .

The software can stimulate the correct voltages down the corticospinal tract in the correct sequences to recruit the specific motor neurons of each muscle individually or ANY combination of muscles to be fired at once or with milisecond delay between them - meaning it can fire all the muscles of the legs at the correct force to do walking , it fires the correct muscles by sending the correct voltages down the spinal column and current down the spinal column with the correct spacing between inputs down the spinal column

To contract the muscles of the lower extremities in the correct order and time spacing to do walking . The system has stored the correct voltages and currents needed and locations on the brain (which the system can track in real time) to send the correct voltages and current down the spinal column so that motor neuron recruitment of a specific magnitude happens for individual muscles (or groups)- spaced by nano to milisecond - — so that the bio mechanical model of movment (google this) - will allow for a movement or action to be recreated by causing muscles to contract at the correct forces and sequences and order to do a specific movment or set of movments -

The system can recreate all movments and actions - it is high fidelity and low latency - the operators can block the subject from being able to move without the system using commands on them .

Ncis and osi have no clue what this system is and the other parts of this integrated system and data feeds .

This system works globally

You   2023/10/1 12:35 AM
This system works globally even on an airplane at 30000 feet moving at 500 mph or faster - the system works nearly everywhere in the world because of the ability of the operators in the Army and CIA (real) have access to the ground stations and ability to switch satellites and run custom source code on them to track the subjects brain in real time and on the move .

You   2023/10/1 12:37 AM
This is a leak of the top secret system and how it works to "remote control a human being " - it is real - persons with access to this system abuse it on people and can basically take control of another human beings body by setting the pulse rate on the motor cortex to paralyze their ability to form their own motor commands by inhibiting the pre motor cortex - and then using the tracking system on the motor cortex to have it so that their muscles are only moved by the system using beamsteered beams (at the correct region of the motor cortex and regions - the system can aim tends to hundred's of beams at once at the brain to cause the correct induction current and synthetic neuron firing of bundles of neurons and cortical columns so that the correct voltage and current combinations and orders of voltages and current travel down the corticospinal tract so that the correct number of motor neuron units can be recruited for muscles in the correct order to contract muscles in precise sequences

The system can contract the correct muscle groups in the correct sequences because the correct amount of voltage and current are routed down the spinal column so that it routes the correct muscle - the system has the correct combinations to activate multiple muscles at the same time and the correct spacing programmed in the source code to have the correct delay (nanosecond to milisecond) between which muscles are activated at which time .

The system has programmed all the voltage and current combinations (and can also manipulate the subject through the GUI and other software) to cause the subject to take muscle movements or series of actions - the system pulses at the pre motor cortex to paralyze the subject at the same time .

The system though has the correct combinations of currents and voltages needed to recruit the correct muscles and series of muscles needed for any action - including waking , moving hands , typing , talking

You   2023/10/1 12:49 AM
The system has the correct voltage and current combination tables and the equations for how much flux rate , flux time, power , beam width (for regions on the brain) - so that each muscle can be contracted individually or groups

The system in the software has the correct voltage and current combinations that must be transmitted down the corticospinal tract to make any muscle or groups of muscle contract

- every muscle has a unique voltage and current and so having that sent down the spinal column will have that only cause a specific muscle to contract - so the cia figured out the combinations and the latency between the voltage and current combinations to cause muscles or any muscle to contract by having the voltage and current recruit a certain number of motor neurons for that muscle (because the software has it stored in the source code)

You   2023/10/1 12:54 AM

Then since persons only need to contract muscles in certain combinations and sequences to perform movements around the joints the system just needs to cause synthetic neuron firing of the correct regions of the motor cortex at the correct magnitude in the correct order to cause the correct routing of current and voltage down the spine so that the correct muscles can be contracted in the correct order - following the BIOMECHANICS MODEL OF MOVEMENT to perform an action or task

This technology is top secret and compartmentalized - persons can make a person"remote controlled " using satellites - It sounds like science fiction but it is real and has existed for almost two decades at this point .

It is being kept secret and persons are withholding classified technical information from ncis and the fbi to explain how the system works

The system is hooked up to the other system - the remote eeg/Meg like system which allows ;

You   2023/10/1 12:59 AM

eeg like ability which allows the reconstructing of real time vision /natural vision -(it allows people to spy out of your eyes in real time - clasified top secret - done by reconstructing backscatter of emf off the brain of a person and reconstructing the electromagnetic field data off the surface and regions of the brain in a temporal spatial manner and then running them through non linear reconstruction methods and neural networks to render the output of the neuron firing amplitudes to pixels (to render the image someone sees out of their brain from the visual cortex processing center /occipital lobe electromagnetic field data reconstructed from backscatter (jist - rest is highly complex and classified top secret)

This allows the operator to have real time vision of the subject - as they manipulate the subjects hands muscles to contract and the order of contraction to make them perform actions against their will - by the explanation above
